

Holiday

Homes are emptied and packed into cases
Smiles shine as they gleam on faces,
The seagulls fly as they soar over the bay
We stock up on icy poles ready for the day,
The warm sun sets on the beach
The far horizon feels just out of reach,
The day fades away and the sky goes pink
Mum holds her wine and gives me a wink.