

Please, thank you, you're welcome.

When the earth crackled in pieces, here came all these lovely features.

From the sea from the land, sticky stick, rubber band.

Please, thank you, you're welcome!

Back in the time in those days, we had no Basketball, television or trains, until Richard, Philo and also James!

So someone said please, we thanked him, and he said you're welcome.

One time I gave you fruits, those were actually for the troops.

Hooked? Drink some wine and go to the sunny sea side.

You could say please, thank you and I would say you're welcome!
