

Penguins in Antarctica

The penguin's black, webbed feet
waddled across the slippery ice.

Her fluffy, grey coat
blowing like a tornado.

Her smooth, black beak
sniffing for fish.

Her dark, curious eyes
looking for her mother coming back from the ocean.