

Flying Plastic Bag

On the night of the lunar eclipse,
Something floating above the powerline strips.
First glance a flying plastic bag,
But really was a skittering possum wisp.

Tonight the moon so beautiful,
A hall of honour would be suitable.
Even critters come to watch,
What a stunning scene it proves to be.